]]> Sync for a faster way to share your bookmarks 26 Oct 2016 12:14:43 +0000 wondered why a particular bookmarks manager or browser extension doesn't sync with the one you use right now? This article talks about Mozilla Sync, which is an extension that helps synchronize all the browser data between computers you use to access the web. It does this by identifying the extensions and bookmarks that can be shared across users and synchronizing the information between devices. The idea behind this idea is to make it easy to move or share your bookmarks between devices, making it painless. You might think that we are talking about this tool from Mozilla, the company that is behind Firefox. However, we can find this tool supported by other browsers as well, but a Firefox version is usually always available. Sync Mozilla Bookmarks First of all, let's take a look at the features that allow you to sync your bookmarks, both those that are currently stored on your computer and those you have saved in the web. With this method, you can easily move your bookmarks or collections across devices, whether it's your laptop, tablet or any other mobile device that you use to access the web. How does it work? Now, let's take a look at how it works. First, you have to install the extension on all devices you want to use to sync them. Second, create a Sync account to be able to access the data. It's as easy as creating a new profile on a browser and inputting the email where you want to receive the notifications about the synced content. After you configure all the credentials and sync your book

Imagine your new little robot maid. It can answer questions, find info, make requests, give you directions, etc. It is a voice-activated computer. According to Alexa's website, the system can be controlled by these actions: Touch the Echo's microphone, ask, or make a voice command. Press and hold the Alexa Button on the remote control and control smart devices. One of the most popular features is the Echo device which "Just Works" and has a lot of the functionality we get from a Bluetooth speaker with a built-in microphone and speaker. Amazon has you covered on the software and hardware side. Alexa can tell time, check the weather, surf the web, and can even read and respond to emails. Amazon has already said the device will be available for free on a one-year contract. Alexa currently only works on select Echo models. The rest will be coming soon.Weekly tips and advice on how to become a better salesperson with your business. Three Tips for Better Customer Service Happy Customers Lead to Happy Salespeople. Happy Customers Happy Customers Lead to Happy Salespeople. Happy Customers I'm sure we all have these customers who seem to be able to eat us for breakfast. Those customers who ask for discounts, give us a hard time, and even threaten to leave. Or customers that seem to have bad attitude and seem to make some customers feel bad. Make it easy for your customers to give you a great review on Google, Yelp, Facebook, or any review site your business may be listed. Ask them, and make the ask. But if they don't respond to you to review us or if they are not happy with their experience at your business, I would encourage you to not respond. The customer feels slighted and will not continue to come back. Instead, follow-up with your customer, and work with your customer to make sure the customer is satisfied. Ask them a few questions
